

J. P. MORGAN IS DEAD

END COMES AT ROME TODAY

THOUSANDS FLEE OHIO FLOOD

Ohio River Rises to Top of Levees; Cairo and Shawneetown Threatened

Illinois Governor Orders 1500 State Troops to Patrol Levees at Cairo

FLOODS in the Ohio river from its mouth to Marietta, Ohio, due to the great volume of water poured into it during the last week by its tributaries, have caused thousands of people to leave the lowlands along the river and seek refuge on higher ground.

Early today the water is still rising and at every city along the river heavy damage to property is reported. Railroad traffic has been impeded and many miles of track washed out.

In Illinois, Governor Dunne has ordered 1500 state troops to proceed by special train to Cairo and Shawneetown to patrol the levees. Hundreds of laborers also have been ordered to pile sacks of sand on the levees in the hope of strengthening them and preventing a break. Reports early today from Henderson, Owensboro, Louisville, Newport and Covington, Ky., Evansville, Indiana; Cincinnati, Portsmouth, Marietta, Ohio; Huntington and Parkersburg, W. Va., show that stocks of goods in buildings near the river have suffered heavily and that the damage will run into millions. There has been no loss of life at any of these points. A telephone message from Cairo, Illinois, early today shows that the levees were still holding and that the Legislature to Give $100,000 for Relief

Appropriation to be Made if There is no Constitutional Bar.

SACRAMENTO, March 31.—The sum of $100,000 for the relief of the flood sufferers of Ohio and Indiana will be appropriated by the California Legislature today or tomorrow if constitutional objections to such a contribution can be overcome.

Pass Law, or Fair Will Be Ignored, Says Sanford

SACRAMENTO, March 31.—John B. Sanford, state senator from Ukiah and avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1914, has thrown down the gauntlet to the influences that are seeking to defeat his alien land law, which would prohibit Japanese and other Oriental races from owning or holding real property in California. "If this Legislature refuses to pass an anti-alien land law," said the senator, "there are just 32 counties that will refuse to make appropriations for county buildings and exhibits. It will be better for the state to lose Japan than lose local support."

Not Guilty, Is Plea of Howard and Associates

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—John L. Howard of Oakland, president of the Western Fuel Company, and his associates on the board of directors appeared in the United States District Court for the second time this morning and pleaded not guilty to the charge of conspiracy to defraud the government. Following the return of a true bill against the officials, a second indictment was found and it was to this that the defendants were forced to enter their plea today. Attorneys Warren Olney, Samuel Knight and P. Black appeared in their behalf and the cases were set down for trial for May 20. Besides Howard, those on hand were James B. Smith, J. M. Schmitt, Robert Bruce, Sidney V. Smith, F. C. Mills, E. H. Mayer and Edward L. Smith.

THOUSANDS ACID ENDS WOMAN'S LIFE

Olga Lehte, Despondent Over Tragic Love Experience, Commits Suicide

Unpleasant Notoriety Thrust Upon Her When Lover Left in October

Despondent over the trouble in which she became involved last November after her lover had disappeared from Oakland, Olga Lehte, a comely young woman whose strange disappearance at that time created a sensation for several days, committed suicide this morning by swallowing the contents of a vial of carbolic acid. The girl was found in her room by her sister, Mary Newman, with whom she resided at 3420 Chestnut street in this city. A physician was summoned but the girl was beyond the power of medical aid.

Abandoned by her lover last October, the girl sought the assistance of several physicians and hospitals. She was at that time employed by Miss Esther Hoover, 678 Twenty-third street, and feared that disgrace would come upon her. On the night of November 13, she was taken away in an automobile to 1014 University avenue, Berkeley, according to a report made to the police at that time, but it was afterwards found that this was a mistake and that she had been taken to St. Margaret's Hospital in East Oakland. The police learned that before that she had called upon Dr. A. K. Crawford, Fourteenth and Broadway, D. E. Sundstrom, 492 Fifty-seventh street and upon others and had attempted to induce them to operate upon her for an alleged case of appendicitis.

After being removed from the hospital, where it is believed some sort of an operation was performed, the young woman took refuge with her sister. Since that time she has been despondent, and the notoriety which followed her action resulted in her finding difficulty in obtaining work.

CALLED THE GIRL. Mrs. Newman was at work getting breakfast this morning when about ready to go to call her sister. She found the body of the girl stretched across her bed. Her mouth and one side of her face had been burned with acid and a small bottle which had contained the deadly poison was lying upon the floor.

Miss Lehte was 24 years of age and a native of Sweden. An inquest will be held at the local morgue, to which the body has been removed.

WORKED IN BERKELEY. BERKELEY, March 31.—The Berkeley police were engaged last November in a search for Miss Olga Lehte, who committed suicide in Oakland to-day. (Continued on Page 3, Col. 7)

The amendment to the bill, which relates to the powers of the boards of supervisors, would permit boards

J. P. MORGAN'S DEATH HAS LITTLE EFFECT ON MARKET

Opening Stock Prices Show Few Changes; London Exchange Slightly Affected

NEW YORK, March 31.—There was no excitement or market change in prices during the opening session of the Consolidated Exchange, which opens half an hour in advance of the Stock Exchange. Prices were from 1/4 to 1/2 under the London opening and 1/4 to 1/2 below Saturday night's closing. The following were the opening prices: Amalgamated, 77 1/2; American Smelting, 69 1/2; St. Paul, 110 1/4; Erie, 28; Reading, 160 1/4; Lehigh Valley, 154 1/4; T. & P., 121 1/4; steel, 80 1/2.

The stock market bore up well under the news of Morgan's death. Opening prices showed declines in almost no case exceeding a point. Supporting orders rallied the market quickly. Trading showed no evidence of nervousness.

Demise Attributed to Effects of Pujo 'Money Trust' Inquiry in Senate; Italian Hotel Is Scene of Noted American's Death

Body to Be Embalmed and Shipped to America; Stock Markets Show Little Effect Following Receipt of News; Daughter and Son-in-Law at Bedside

NEW YORK, March 31.—J. Pierpont Morgan is dead. He died at 12:05 p. m., Rome time. This announcement was made by the offices of J. P. Morgan & Company this morning.

Prominent bankers in this city said this morning that they did not predict any decided unfavorable effect on the stock market by reason of Morgan's death. The reason of this, they explained, was that the recurrent rumors of his serious illness had prepared the market for any possibility and enabled those engaged in market operations to prepare for just such a situation.

"Please don't speak to me now," was the request of J. P. Morgan Jr. of the small army of newspapermen who greeted him when he left his home in Madison avenue this morning. Morgan was bound for the home of his mother, a few doors away. Before he reached her door, however, he added:

"Two cablegrams have been received from Rome. One was received at 8:15 and the other at 8:30. They have not yet been translated. A statement will be given out later at the offices of J. P. Morgan & Company."

BODY WILL BE EMBALMED. ROME, March 31.—J. P. Morgan, the American financier, died at five minutes past 12 o'clock noon today (8:05 a. m., American New York time). The body is to be embalmed and sent to the United States on board ship from Naples. A funeral service will be held before its departure.

Dr. M. Allen Starr of New York, called into consultation over J. Pierpont Morgan's illness, attributed the financier's breakdown to emotion caused by the investigation carried out by the Pujo committee at Washington into the operations of the "money trust."

Rudolph Spreckels to Get Diplomatic Post

San Franciscan Is Said to Be Foremost in Consideration for Germany.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Rudolph Spreckels of San Francisco is slated by President Wilson for appointment to a foreign diplomatic mission and is foremost among those in the President's consideration for ambassador to Germany.

W. H. Page to Be English Ambassador

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Walter H. Page of Garden City, La., editor of the World's Work and a member of Doubleday, Page & Co., publishers, has accepted President Wilson's offer to be ambassador to Great Britain.

Father Kern to Succeed Rev. McNally Is Report

San Francisco has a new announcement within a fortnight. There are many candidates for the post. Father Kern is a native of Ireland and settled in Berkeley about 1880. During that period he made many friends among the Brothers of St. Joseph's, who have been circulating among the priests of the community that the appointment will be made. As yet there has not been a confirmation of the deceased clergyman's successor, Archbishop Riordan of her presence remained unknown to the dying man.

Besides the four trained nurses in attendance, Miss Helen Hamilton, was of great assistance to the three physicians, Professor Bestenell, Dr. M. Allen Starr and Dr. Dixon. During the morning George Wheeler Post, secretary of the American embassy, called to make inquiries on behalf of the American ambassador, Thomas J. O'Brien, and was told that Morgan had collapsed and that his condition had been rendered worse by deafness.

MANY INQUIRIES RECEIVED.
From the time of his arrival in Rome Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Satterlee had feared a mistake had been made in bringing Mr. Morgan here instead of taking him direct to London, where he would have been in his own house instead of a noisy hotel, and they thought, too, that the climate of Rome was too mild and enervating for a man in his condition of ill health.

Cable dispatches from America, Great Britain and other parts of the world poured in all day, making anxious inquiries and expressing the affection in which Morgan was held everywhere.

The financier's secretary seemed unable to reply to all inquiries and Mr. and Mrs. Satterlee expressed the desire to inform inquirers how touched they were at the manifestations of sympathy they had received.

News is Announced From N. Y. Offices of Morgan Concern

NEW YORK, March 31.—The Morgan offices at the corner of Broad and Wall streets were closed this morning. On the front doors was pasted this notice:

"J. P. Morgan died at Rome, Italy, at 12:05."

Henry P. Davidson, a member of the house of Morgan, made the announcement here of the financier's death. He said merely that he had received a cable that the financier had passed away shortly after noon Davidson had planned to go abroad some time this week, but is thought probable that this trip will be postponed.

Consistent with Morgan's death it became known that he had suffered a serious attack before his departure for Europe, but he rallied so rapidly that it was not considered a forerunner to fatal illness and was known only to his most intimate friends.

For many years Morgan spent a considerable portion of his time abroad, but on this trip, for the first time, he severed all connection with business affairs and permitted his partners to shoulder all responsibility for their conduct. It was the first instance of his taking such a complete rest since he entered the banking business in this city before the civil war.

$400,000,000 Deposits in Morgan's Bank; Result of Control

NEW YORK, March 31.—Wall street authorities who were well acquainted with J. Pierpont Morgan say that he would seldom go upon the directorate of a company or corporation which he could not dominate. The result was that the various railroad corporations and innumerable other companies who had him on their directorate, deposited their money at his bank.

It is calculated that the total of these cash deposits will exceed $400,000,000 and this with the street trust deposits carried the balance beyond the $500,000,000 mark.

Morgan was a director in 61 companies. These companies were:

Aetna Insurance Company.
Boston and Maine Railroad Company.
Carthage and Adirondack Railroad Company.
Carthage and Watertown and Sackett's Harbor Railroad Company.
Central New England Railroad Company.
City and County Contract Company.

Discredit Breakdown Over "Money Trust" Inquiry in Senate

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Surprise was expressed by members of the "money trust" committee now in Washington that Morgan's breakdown should have been attributed by his

Morgan Financier When a Schoolboy

Probably Morgan's first attempt at finance took place in Boston. The school teacher gave him money with which to buy books. Young Morgan was gone for a long time. When he returned he handed the teacher the books and also some change.

"What's this for?" asked the teacher. "I gave you just enough to buy the books. I always paid that for them."

"Oh," replied young Morgan, "I went around until I could find a place to buy at wholesale."

Morgan Had Control of $9,000,000,000

The sobriquet of "Sphinx of Wall Street" later was the appellation applied to the man who at first was believed to have been without business acumen, but later became the supreme head of American finance. Morgan's control over men and money was the dominant keynote of his life. Others, perhaps, were wealthier than Morgan, but he commanded his wealth and that of others. At the height of his power he is said to have controlled $9,000,000,000.

physicians to the effects of the Pulo inquiry. When the banker appeared before the committee December 18 and 19 he was apparently in good health and his bearing was confident and self-possessed.

"Mr. Morgan appeared to enjoy the investigation," Representative Hayes of California said today. "He seemed entirely at ease and under no unusual strain."

Carranza Declares Himself President

Washington Has Advices That Leader Has Made Announcement.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Governor Carranza, at the head of the revolution against the Mexican government in the north, has declared himself provisional president, according to official advices today.

LAREDO, Tex., March 31.—Eighty-nine were killed and many wounded in a desperate sixteen-hour battle Friday and Saturday at Lampasas, eighty miles south of here, between a handful of federalists and 300 followers of Venustiano Carranza, rebel governor of Coahuila. The rebels surrounded Lampasas Friday night, according to Captain Rivas, commanding the federalists, and poured in a deadly fire, which was returned.

Prison Escape Wears Garb of a Guard

Burglar Who Broke Out of the Federal Penitentiary Eludes Capture.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., March 31.—Clyde Stratton, notorious burglar, prison breaker, and suspect in Chicago motor bandit raid and diamond robbery, who escaped from the federal prison here Saturday by crawling through a sewer half a mile long, still is at liberty and, it is believed at the Leavenworth penitentiary, is part of the country garbed in clothing exactly like that of the guards pursuing him. The camp of a soldier at a truck farm near Fort Leavenworth was robbed Saturday night and clothing and canned food were taken.

BILL TO AID IN COUNTY BOOSTING

Makes Provision for $50,000 to be Raised Annually for Publicity.

"to levy a special tax upon taxable property of their respective counties for the purpose of aiding in or carrying on the work of inducing immigration thereto or for the purpose of exhibiting or advertising the agricultural, mineral, manufacturing or other resources of the county provided, however, that such tax shall not exceed 2 cents on the $100 of assessed valuation for any other year."

At the present time counties of the first and second class can levy $10,000 for this purpose, and all other counties $2000. The remarkable growth of Alameda county within the past few years prompted the introduction of the amendment by Assemblyman Clark. It is understood that all of the civic and commercial organizations of Oakland and other cities of the county are back of the amendment.

The idea of the amendment is to permit Alameda, along with other counties, to advertise their resources during the period prior to the fair of 1915 and also to spend funds to interest visitors to the San Francisco and San Diego expositions.

The proponents of the amendment to the bill, which bids fair of passage, insist that through advertising the great task of building up the city of Oakland and other cities and counties of the state will be greatly aided. The sum that can now be utilized for this purpose, they say, is infinitesimal and usually fritters away without showing any appreciable results.

Stockbrokers of S. F. to Be Investigated

Grand Jury to Learn of Relations With Banker Chas. F. Baker.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—As a direct result of the defections of Charles F. Baker of Oakland, former assistant cashier of the Crocker National Bank District Attorney John L. McNab today intimated his intention of investigating the stockbrokers operating in this city. It is McNab's opinion that the relations between the brokers and the national bank come within his province and he intends to take the matter before the grand jury at its meeting next week. Baker spent most of the tens of thousands of dollars he is accused of stealing with various concerns, who watched the market for him.

As a clerk he paid strict attention to the firm's business, and he minded his own business, not speaking unless he had something to say, and not wasting time to listen to others who told something not worth while hearing. He had set out to be a builder, not a tearer-down, and he needed every minute ticked away by the clock.

He evidenced remarkable ability as a clerk. His training stood him in good stead. It soon became apparent that he was a tearer-down, and he needed every minute ticked away by the clock.

A waiter summoned Patrolman Lyette and Smith was arrested and charged with a felony. He was very repentant when he appeared in Judge Sullivan's court today and his case was continued until Wednesday. It developed that he had taken the revolver away from a drunken officer in his own saloon.

Seismograph Records Earthquake Tremors

Disturbance About 6000 Miles From Washington, Is Belief.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—An earthquake of unusual intensity was registered last night on the seismograph at Georgetown University. The principal tremor occurred at 11:35, although the quakes lasted from 11:31 to 12:15 this morning.

The disturbance apparently was between 6000 and 7000 miles removed from Washington.

ST. LOUIS, March 31.—The seismograph at St. Louis recorded an earthquake of unusual violence last night at a point estimated to be 4200 miles away. The shock, it is thought, was most severely felt in Behring Straits.

SEATTLE, March 31.—A violent earthquake was recorded on the seismograph of the University of Washington beginning at 7:48 o'clock last night and continuing an hour and a half. Apparently the disturbance was in Bering sea.

Child Is Burned to Death; Matches Cause

Three-Year-Old Girl's Dress Is Set Afire While at Play.

PORTLAND, Ore., March 31.—Nora Kennell, 3 years old, was burned to death at her father's home at Wilson, a suburb of this city, during the mother's absence of both parents from the house. The child, with her younger brother and sister, secured some matches, which they proceeded to light, one of them setting Nora's dress afire. The screams of the children attracted the father, but too late to save the little one's life.

LIGHT OF DAY GOLDEN

MORGAN SR. WEALTHY

JOHN PIERPONT MORGAN was so

emulor, dictating to them and sending them forth to carry out his will. HOLD BALANCE OF POWER. At a time when banks and trust companies were tottering all about him, it was his steady hand that was stretched forth to save not all of them but those which he deemed should survive. Practically speaking the life of nearly every banking and financial institution in New York was in his hands. He held the balance between life and death in sentences of financial life or death in quick staccato tones.

His friends say that the work he did during his long period will rebound to his credit as a legend.

Even the government at Washington looked upon him as the man who was capable of throttling the dissonance of panic and practically all the resources of the United States Treasury were turned over to him to do with as he saw fit and proper.

An instance of this was the pouring out of $5,000,000 upon the floor of the stock exchange to save that institution from utter ruin on that memorable black Friday in 1907.

This money was conjured from somewhere by J. P. Morgan. No one knew from where. Later it was alleged that the money had been taken out of the United States Sub-Treasury and turned over to Morgan.

WAS LOVER OF ART.

As a great lover of art Morgan spent much money in collecting out his always played fast after paying a fortune for the famous Ascoli vase, he returned it to the Italian government as soon as he learned it had been stolen from its place in an old church. He possessed a rare copy of the Bible, the famous Luther Bible. He spent a fortune to possess it. He was more than any of his rivals could afford to give. When he learned that Emperor William of Germany was one of those whom he had outbid for the precious volume, however, he promptly presented it to Kaiser.

For these two acts of generosity he was decorated by the Italian government and by the German Kaiser.

DUTY TOO HEAVY.

Because of the heavy duty on works of art coming into the United States Morgan had kept the greater part of his collection on the other side of the Atlantic. Congress, however, passed a law removing this duty and in the spring of 1912 the great collections of the American financier, which were assembled at his two homes in London and at Paris, and valued at more than $2,000,000, were packed up and shipped to New York. The greatest part of this collection is now to be seen in the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Later, during the investigation of the "Money Trust" by the Pulo committee, House of Representatives, of 1912-13, Mr. Morgan was called to the stand, where his testimony was, in effect, that there was no money trust and that there could never be one. This despite the fact that testimony was adduced showing that the Morgan interests controlled through interlocking directorates, billions of dollars invested in sixty-one large industrial and banking businesses throughout the United States.

A great deal of the Morgan fortune will be found to have gone back to the people. It may be that he did not let his hand know what his left hand was doing, but, aside from his giving $5,000,000 for a hospital, his benefactions would not be covered with $5,000,000—that is, his known benefactions.

Morgan was commander of the New York Yacht Club and the yacht he constructed for the organization was twice successful in keeping the cup in this country. He liked the water, and after turning the helm of the ship over to his son, J. P. Morgan Jr., he sailed the ocean in his magnificent private yacht. In Europe he was the guest of royalty, for the kings of the Old World recognized him as one of the most remarkable men in the world, if, indeed, not the most remarkable in the world of finance.

INVALUABLE GIFTS. On these trips Morgan was constantly on the lookout for rarities which he could give to institutions in America. He made invaluable gifts to the American Museum of Natural History, the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the New York Public Library. His private collection of pictures, books, manuscripts, curios and bronzes are worth in themselves a princely fortune.

He was a member of many clubs both in the United States and abroad. Morgan was married twice. His first wife was Amelia Sturges, died in 1882, the year following her marriage to the financier. In 1885 he married Miss Louise Tracy, who bore him one son and three daughters. Morgan had eleven grandchildren at the time of his death.

SIMPLE AND UNAFFECTED.

His friends knew him as a simple, unassuming companion, and as an interesting conversationalist with keen wit and genial humor. Once a woman asked him why he kept on accumulating money when he already had more than he needed.

"I do not like money," Mrs. Morgan is said to have replied, "but I do enjoy the excitement, the fun of making it."

Business was not all to the life of J. Pierpont Morgan. His office hours were short and at the close of his business day he left his office and his business behind him. Woe to the person who then approached him on business bent. He cared little for society but was fond of a good dinner in congenial company, of raw wine and big black cigars. Wines he partook of with moderation. To cigars he was almost a slave.

PANTAGES STAR A REAL COMEDIAN

"Karl" Proves a Mirth Provoker; Other Fine Numbers on Bill.

With a broomstick stuck into a cigar box, the whole forming a sort of one-stringed violin, and perhaps about twenty words, "Karl" Pantages star, yesterday kept the audience laughing steadily for fifteen minutes, and then had difficulty in giving place to the next act. Besides being a wonderful performer on his queer instrument, the man is a remarkable comedian, and has a faculty of tuning any little incident in the front of the house to his advantage. For instance, a baby cried in the audience, Karl looked that way. The audience uttered a long drawn whine from the violin, in imitation of baby, and the audience almost howled with mirth. An argument with Director Rosebrook as to whether he should sing or not, followed. The act, although technically known as a "single" act, proved perhaps the biggest hit on the bill.

Miss Merceron, the dancer, is no stranger to Oakland theater goers. She appears in the grand opera, singing, producing, amid remarkable scenic effects, a series of Egyptian dances, the whole telling a story of love and vengeance in a temple of the Pharaohs. The dancer is extremely graceful, and is highly supported by Mons. Charles and B. Lanza.

Olite Eaton and company appear in a sprightly farce, "Man proposes—woman disposes." The piece is crammed full of comic situations and deals with the wrong-doings of a convivial husband and his final discomfiture. William C. Turner and Raymond Nye support Miss Eaton in the offering.

Melito Moore's lads and lassies offer a lively musical comedy, several catchy airs being sung. Dixie Harris and Gerald Walsh head the cast, and the piece ends with a swinging act in which electrical effects are seen to advantage.

The three Nevados, comedy acrobats, perform a number of extremely difficult feats. Jack Magee and Frances Kerry entertain with a lively dialogue of jokes and stories, and the Blue Ribbon four render quartet numbers. Comedy pictures round out the bill. During the showing of these the orchestra, under the direction of Director S. W. Rosebrook, renders selections from the opera "Mikado."

FACES CHARGE OF FELONY EMBEZZLEMENT

George W. Courtney, a laundryman, who has been sought for the past year for an alleged swindle in which four drivers for the Day Cities Laundry Company were made the victims, was captured yesterday and arraigned before Judge George Samuels this morning on four charges of felony embezzlement by bail. The cases were put over for preliminary examination.

It is alleged that Courtney required four drivers for the company to place a bond of $300 cash with him when they were employed by the company to insure proper return of collections. After receiving $1,000 Courtney is alleged to have disappeared with the money. The charges are sworn to by the victims of this trick: J. W. Jacobson, 1746 Addison street; Berkeley; Robert Meek, 1524 Grove street; Frank Stutter, 327 Broadway; and B. R. Wilbourn.

GREASE WAYS FOR NEW TARIFF BILL

Wilson to Decide Whether There Will be One General Revision Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—The "smoothing out" process to be initiated this week in preparation for the handling of tariff revision in the extra session of Congress that opens April 7, is regarded by Congressional leaders as the most important step in the tariff preliminaries.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, will confer shortly with Chairman Underwood of the House Ways and Means Committee and both will talk with President Wilson and arrange for further conferences. While the tariff bill practically is complete, important developments hang upon the decisions of President Wilson and upon the result of a full canvass of the Democrats of the Senate.

To the president will be left the final decision as to whether there shall be one general revision bill or separate measures for each of the different schedules of the tariff law. A majority of the House tariff makers favor the single bill idea, and if President Wilson supports the plan a single bill will be offered in the House.

PLAN CRITICISED. This plan has already roused sharp opposition in the Senate, however. The free sugar and 35 per cent duty on raw wool provided for in the bill by the House committee will be the target for attack in the Senate, not only from Republicans but from Democrats who come from wool or sugar states.

Should a single general tariff be introduced with the approval of President Wilson it is believed the Senate Democratic leaders would be forced to yield to the demand for separate votes on these two schedules. In such event they might be taken out of the general tariff bill and passed as amendments.

The extent to which President Wilson may desire a reduction of duties on agricultural products, comprised in the so-called "market basket" list, will have a marked influence on the support that may be given the new tariff revision by Progressive Republicans. The tariff on wheat, barley, oats and other farm products practically has been cut in half by the House committee.

President Wilson's tariff message, the substance of which has been communicated to leaders of both houses of Congress, is understood to have received general approval.

"GET TOGETHER" DINERS GROWING

Commercial Club Expects 500 Representative Men From Vicinity.

Judging by the acceptances which have been received by the Oakland Commercial Club for the "get together" dinner to be given under the auspices of that organization on Monday evening, April 7, at the Hotel Oakland, there will be approximately 500 of the most representative men in commercial and industrial circles of the cities surrounding San Francisco bay present on that occasion. Since the invitations have been sent out every mail brings acceptances, and the committee in charge is now worried as to its ability to care for all those wishing to attend. While the number of invitations was limited, there are many more anxious to come in case of non-acceptances, which is a remote possibility, according to present indications.

That this dinner will bring together the largest number of representative men in the history of Oakland is a certainty, and from the number of features and "stunts" planned to emphasize the need of co-operation between the various communities interested and their commercial inter-dependence the dinner will doubtless be one of the most unique held in the State.

The slogan adopted for the dinner is "Glades Around the Harbor," and its motto is a well organized campaign of cooperative effort for the upbuilding of the bay region. The cities which will be represented will be Oakland, San Francisco, Berkeley, Alameda, Piedmont, Emeryville, Richmond, San Leandro, Hayward, San Jose, San Mateo and Redwood City. It is expected that as a result of this dinner there will be a pulling together of all these communities that has heretofore been unknown.

Several speakers will devote a few minutes each to outlining a portion of the general campaign, and will tell of certain lines along which results may be obtained. The committee in charge consists of the following:

O. E. Hotte, chairman; W. W. Garthwaite, J. F. Carlston, P. E. Bowles, W. G. Henshaw, E. A. Heron, Mark I. Requa, H. C. Taft, Robert M. Fitzgerald, Charles E. Snook, J. T. Eccleston, M. J. Layman, Frank J. Woodward, Walter Leimert, Jules Abrahamson and Charles J. Heeseman.

BOY SEEKS SHARE OF ECCLES ESTATE

SALT LAKE, Utah, March 31.—Sult will be tied in the District Court at Ogden, Utah, this week against the estate of David Eccles, late multi-millionaire sugar and lumber king, to determine the right of Albert Geddes, 13-year-old son of Mrs. Margaret Geddes, to share in the fortune left by the capitalist. The estate is valued at $10,000,000.

The ground on which a shared estate will be asked is that the Geddes boy is a son of Eccles. For years it was reported that Mrs. Geddes was the plural wife of the late David Eccles, who dropped dead on a Salt Lake street about three months ago.

ALLEGED BILL RAISERS CAUGHT

Had Complete Outfit for Changing One Dollar Bills
to Ten.

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 31.—With the arrest of William Smith and G. E. Strand yesterday afternoon the local police believe they have succeeded in apprehending the men responsible for the circulating of the raised American bills which lately flooded this city. A complete outfit consisting of dyes, inks, numbers, etc., used in changing a $1 bill to a $10 bill was found in their rooms on Hastings street, together with a quantity of lead $5 "gold" pieces. Both men were positively identified by a string of their victims who viewed them at the station. They claim to be Americans, having arrived here recently from Seattle.

HELD FOR ASSAULT WITH DEADLY WEAPON

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Urezo Flores was charged with assault with a deadly weapon at the city prison this morning following an attack on Special Policeman William Weiffert at the Hippodrome on Pacific street. Flores, according to Weiffert, drew a knife on him and tried to slash him while he was being admonished to keep the peace. The accused man was taken into custody by Patrolmen Healy and Bigelow.

QUICKLY CURES THE WORST BACKACHE

Makes Kidney Troubles, Bladder Disorders and Rheumatic Pains Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for anyone to suffer with backaching, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves and makes the kidneys sit out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first-class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

DIGBY BELL HITS ORPHEUMITE RIGHT

Farceur Heads the Splendid Vaudeville Bill at Popular
Twelfth-Street House.

(By LEO LEVY.)

"It Happened in Topeka" may have happened in Topeka or somewhere else. Also, it may have happened or not. George V. Hobart declares it did, and Digby Bell at the Orpheum, backs him up. Taking their word for it, we're glad it happened. There's a lot more joy in the world because it did and that's something to register.

"It Happened in Topeka" has a lot of plot to it that is rather light and witty. It is concerned with a jealous Frenchman, his wife, a stenographer designed a la Hobart and executed a la George Ade and one "Doc" Brewster, traveling gentleman. What the story is doesn't matter. Beyond saying that Brewster cures the Frenchman of his jealousy and manages to get himself out of a scrape for which he was not responsible, the plot isn't heavy. But it gives Digby Bell plenty of room to effervesce and many opportunities to prove he's still deserving of the title farceur.

CLEVERLY ACTED BIT.

Mary Cecil is the stenographer and a cleverly acted bit of femininity is offered to you over the footlights. Mary's make is just slinky enough to be human and not vulgar, and she doesn't cheat gum. Mignon Leris is Antoinette Savarin, the long-suffering wife, and Eugene Hedding is the husband. They are sufficiently talented to be counted members of a well-cast Orpheumite.

Lavigne Johnson, ventriloquist, comes with a grotesque wooden dummy and a recommendation. The dummy lives up to expectations and tradition, to say nothing of the recommendation. Those who have not seen and heard Johnson before in Oakland have a good thing. His work is vigorous, snappy and not without its wit.

SKILL IN THE AIR.

The hardest working "key man" of which Oakland has known since the advent of the Bracks, is laboring with the Great Torment this week. He carries more weight on his shoulders than a hypochondriac could dream of. The Torment is as speedy as their title, hurries through the air the greatest part of the time and do a lot of acrobatic feats never dreamed of in his athletic philosophy.

Variety and talent is plentifully spread over the Orpheum's latest bill. Will Dillon sings his own songs and clinches his chance for greater royalties with a "plant" in the gallery and another in a box. The Huntings and Harry Fern do "The Trimmer Trimmer," a sketch strictly tailored for vaudeville, composed of four parts laughter and one part popular melody. Dorothy Harris as a singing comedienne is a gem. She sings to suit many and enthusiastic curtain calls. Sidney Baxter does breath-holding, hair-raising stunts on a slack wire. And there are new numbers on the wonderful talking picture machine to say nothing of the silent reel, which says nothing but says wow.

THIEF DOES BUSINESS ON "CASH BASIS" ONLY

LOS ANGELES, March 31.—James Case, who was wounded and captured late Saturday night after an attempt to hold up a butcher shop, told today of having committed a hundred or more holdups in Los Angeles during the last 18 months. He generally used a bicycle or motorcycle, he said, to make his escape and three times he had been wounded in revolver duels with police. Case declared that he never took jewelry, as it was too risky, and he did business only "on a cash basis."

Old Age. Old age as it comes in the orderly process of nature is a beautiful and majestic thing. It stands for experience, knowledge, wisdom, counsel. The old age it should be, but old age as it often is means poor digestion, torpid bowels, a sluggish liver and a general feeling of ill health, despondency and misery. This is almost every instance is wholly unnecessary. One of Chamberlain's Tablets taken immediately after supper will improve the digestion, tone up the liver and regulate the bowels. That feeling of despondency will give way to one of hope and good cheer. For sale at Orpheum Bros. Drug Stores. —Advertisement.

DRIVING HIS CAR CROSS CONTINENT

R. C. H. Auto is Making the
First Transcontinental
Trip of 1913.

(By EDMUND CRINNION.)

Philip Ainsworth, the plucky Baltimore motorist who drove to Washington for the inauguration and immediately after started on the first transcontinental tour of the 1913 season in his R. C. H., is well on his way and will have covered more than a thousand miles by the end of his first week.

H. C. Harrison, the California agent of the R. C. H., had received word that Ainsworth contemplated the long and dangerous trip, but his first news was that the trip was actually under way was a telegram received from Ainsworth from Chicago yesterday. The run from New York had been made in five days and Ainsworth wired that he had not been held up by a rain storm. In the night letter received by Harrison, Ainsworth said:

"Have started per schedule and although everybody tells me I am selecting the hardest time of the year for making the trip, I have confidence in my R. C. H. and mean to stick to the task. Thus far the car has acted fine. You will hear from me from Omaha."

Harrison says the first week's progress is really well with the car. The roads are in bad shape and the run is a long one at any time of the year. Ainsworth is bringing his wife and 14-year-old son.

SEVERE TESTING TRIP.

With the road-racing championship of America awarded and with Louis Dabrow crowned dirt-track king, the question of touring honors is now being widely discussed by the automobile experts throughout the country. Barring those who give all their time to pathfinding and map making, the success of F. K. Bull, the president of the J. I. Case T. M. Company, in his transcontinental trip, which took in the mid-northern course known to American automobilists, stands out as one of the biggest achievements accredited to any American tourist. Bull and a number of friends early in September started out from northern courses known to American automobilists, stands out as one of the biggest achievements accredited to any American tourist. Bull and a number of friends early in September started out from northern courses known to American automobilists, stands out as one of the biggest achievements accredited to any American tourist.

The full route, which is so prevalent in the northwestern part of Canada at this time of the year, had set in and were transforming the prairies east of the Rockies into a sea of mud. But this did not thwart the determination of Bull, who had a twofold purpose in mind in selecting the most northerly passage to the Pacific.

Bull wanted to severely test out the new 1913 models of the Case automobiles to discover if any details in construction had been overlooked or could be improved in any way.

Two cars were used in the long trip, a Case 30 and a Case 40. The two machines were the first 1912 models built by the Case Company, and Bull, in accomplishing the journey, gave them as severe a test as a new automobile has ever subjected to endure.

HONOLULU FLORAL PARADE.

One of the annual festival features of Honolulu is the floral parade. For years this has been a season of merry making in the island.

Fifteen years ago this occasion was marked by a display of artistically floral decorated floats drawn by horses, draped with blossoms of the island of the southern sea.

Today, however, has seen the passing of the horse, and at the recent floral parade the floats were built on motor vehicles.

One of the most striking of these was the float designed by the Flek Tiro and Rubber Company's representative. While pneumatic tires were prominently displayed with flowers, yet the most striking feature of the float was a number of kiddies dressed in pajamas carrying candle sticks, personifying the well known ad of the company, "Time to go to bed."

TRY TO WRECK TRAIN.

KANSAS CITY, March 31.—An attempt was made Saturday to wreck a Chicago and Great Western passenger train six miles west of this city. Miscreants had placed a railroad tie on the track and covered it with cinders to deceive the trainmen. Fortunately Engineer W. J. Morris saw the obstruction and checked the speed of the train sufficiently to prevent a serious accident.

FRIEDMANN GIVES OUT EXPLANATION

Statement Tells How Non-Virulent Bacilli Were Bred;
Will Cure Tuberculosis.

NEW YORK, March 31.—A translation of Dr. Friedmann's own explanation, now on file in the German patent office at Berlin, a similar statement of which is now a part of the secret files of the United States patent office at Washington was made public here today.

Medical men who have closely followed the demonstrations and declarations of Dr. Friedmann say that the publication of this document now leaves only one feature of importance unsolved in the Friedmann discovery.

In his explanation of his process Dr. Friedmann carefully evades a frank announcement of whether his bacilli, cultivated in the turtle, as has been generally believed, or in the human body.

The explanation, which it now remains for Dr. Friedmann to make, is whether he originally found the non-virulent tubercular bacilli in the turtle or cultivated virulent human bacilli to a point where it was non-virulent and acclimated to the cold blood of the turtle.

Dr. Friedmann describes four methods by which bacilli may be treated to attain the results he professes to have attained. Three of the methods, physicians say, have been used by bacteriologists for from ten to twenty years.

Dr. Friedmann took up with his assistants today the plan of immunizing babies. He said that eighteen months ago he injected his serum into about 350 new-born children, most of them of tubercular parents.

He said that he had carefully watched the results and evidently the "vaccination" had been effective and done much good, as none of the children had developed symptoms of tuberculosis.

He expressed the view that it would be better first to treat babies and having protected them from the possibility of tuberculosis turn to the treatment of adult sufferers.

"In this way," Dr. Friedmann said, "tuberculosis could be stamped out in a generation."

THIS IS TRUE.

Women have learned that a $5.00 NEMO gives them everything they can get in any corset—superb style, splendid comfort and long wear. The dealer may get less profit from them, but the wearer gets at least DOUBLE VALUE, as corset values go.

Women have also learned that the Nemo is more than a corset. It is a health guardian. The day of dangerous, uncomfortable corsets ended with our invention of Nemo Lastikops Webbing and Cloth.

Demise of a Great American.

Through the death of J. Pierpont Morgan, which occurred to-day at Rome, Italy, after a protracted illness, the country has lost one of its greatest and most distinguished citizens. He was identified with the chief financial, commercial and industrial interests in the country. Indeed as a commercial and financial organizer he was one of the most conspicuous men in the civilized world in modern times. He amassed a colossal fortune as the "natural" result of his great talent. But Morgan, notwithstanding his great wealth, was a man of modest and retiring habits. He never willingly figured in the limelight of public notoriety.

Although the head of some of the biggest financial institutions in the country and intimately related with the management and directory of some of its largest industrial and commercial corporations, Morgan was such a complete master of his vast affairs that he has left everything relating to them in such perfect shape for their future direction and control that his demise has not created a ripple on the surface of the financial pool.

Notwithstanding the enormous demand which his vast enterprises made upon his mental resources, Morgan found time enough to gratify his great love for art. He was, by a wide margin, the largest and most discriminating American collector of European works of art. He spent millions for works of the great masters of the Old World and was sufficiently unselfish to allow the public their fullest enjoyment by permitting them to be displayed in the Metropolitan Gallery of Art in New York.

Morgan was also a devoted Episcopal churchman and was a regular attendant and an influential delegate at all of the more important national Episcopal conferences held in the country. But even there he was always one of the most modest and unobtrusive figures.

Expansion of Oakland's Fire Limits.

The Board of Fire Underwriters and the municipal authorities have taken early cognizance of THE TRIBUNE'S suggestion in commenting on the recent destruction by fire of the major part of the block bounded by Seventh, Eighth, Webster and Harrison streets, of the urgent necessity which exists to expand the fire limits of the central business quarter as a precaution against a possible conflagration, as the outskirts of the present fire limits are being rapidly invaded by trade and manufacturing industries. For the want of better structures, available to meet their wants these concerns have been crowded into inflammable buildings remodeled to accommodate them temporarily. They are certainly not suited for permanent business uses of any kind. But the best of these remodeled wooden buildings are no better than tinder boxes which invite a widespread conflagration in the event of an outbreak of fire. The recent fire in the Webster-street block described narrowly escaped starting one, so quickly were the rookeries enveloped in flames, burning embers being carried by the strong wind which prevailed at the time to neighboring blocks and starting incipient fires which kept the fire department busy to extinguish. That fire did its work on the burning block so rapidly that every building in which the fire raged and its contents were reduced to ashes before the department was able to subdue it, although the salt water plant was brought into play as an auxiliary of the engines drawing streams from the fresh water mains.

In the heart of the burning block was a Chinese wholesale firm quartered in the former three-story Salvation Army barracks stocked with all kinds of combustible merchandise. But when the fire was subdued, the structure and everything contained in it was reduced to a pile of worthless rubbish. Most of the larger owners of property in the block will rebuild brick structures which will be at least semi-fire proof. But it is manifestly against public safety that no building should be erected on it that does not comply with the building regulations governing the erection of new structures in the fire limit district. Nor should any building in that or any other section on the outskirts of the present fire limits, which has been invaded by business or which business is sure to invade at a very early date, be granted a permit to be erected or remodeled which does not conform with the fire limit regulations. In fact, as a measure of public safety, none of the owners of the old wooden frame buildings standing in any part of the central business district should be granted a permit to be remodeled for business uses with inflammable materials, for such a policy has the direct effect of merely extending the life of structures which are a menace to the safety of buildings of modern types that have been erected in recent years in close proximity to them.

Oakland is developing now on metropolitan lines with metropolitan ambitions and prospects and metropolitan fire limits and building regulations should be established and enforced. It is proposed to introduce and pass an ordinance extending the fire limits in all directions. It cannot become law too soon. But, if any fault can be found with the ordinance, as the fire limits extensions have been described, it is that the area is too circumscribed. On the eastern side of Broadway, for instance, the limits should be carried to the western line of Lakeshore Park and to the western shore of the north arm of the estuary to the southern waterfront, for that district is fast developing into the warehouse and wholesale business district and important manufacturing plants are multiplying there. There are comparatively few residences in the district and they belong to a period long past and have outlived their usefulness. It does not fall far short of justice against the community to allow any of these old-time structures to be remodeled for any kind of business use or permit the erection of any new building not of a permanent and reasonably safe against destruction by fire. Permission to erect corrugated iron on wooden frames to house industries or to be used as storehouses is scarcely less for the reason that such buildings constitute a blight on neighboring property.

If the central business district continues to expand in the future at the rate it has in the past four or five years (and it surely promises to expand much faster), it is safe to say that the proposed extension of the fire limits to the north and the west will in a very few years be overlapped by the growth of the central business district. The salt water fire-extinguishing plant will have to be extended at a very early date over a vast area than it now covers. Oakland is modernizing itself on a large scale already, it is true; but it must be self-evident to the thoughtful and intelligent student of its progress that its modernization is not, after all, laid out on as broad lines as its prospects warrant.

European 'Concert of Action' Ineffective.

The so-called great powers have lost their grip on European affairs. They are no longer adjusters of the balance of power or the dictators of the line of conduct of the minor kingdoms and principalities. During Bismarck's time a beck or a nod from the neutral powers was enough to determine the fate of the belligerents—whether it should be peace or war, and, if the latter, how the spoils should be distributed after the fighting was all over.

But the combination of the four petty Balkan states against the Turkish government has completely upset the precedents of over a half century in the arbitration of Europe's international quarrels. The "concert of action" of the great powers does not carry any weight with it now.

For weeks, Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria and Russia have been offering to mediate the differences between the allied states and Turkey, at the earnest pleading of the Sublime Porte for intervention. As the spokesman for the allies, Bulgaria has repeatedly expressed the willingness of the Balkan states to accept the kind offices of the great powers in the interest of the restoration of peace; but with the condition, invariably declared, that the only terms of peace which the victorious allies would accept as a condition of peace were the concession of them to every foot of Turkish territory conquered by their armies and the payment of an indemnity covering the cost of the war to them.

When Adrianople fell, the chancelleries of the great powers announced their intention to summon a conference, intervene and stop the war and take the settlement of the terms of peace in their own hands. Bulgaria has notified them again that the states will cheerfully welcome the mediation of the powers; but the settlement of the terms of peace must remain with the victorious allies. Austria has, in the meantime, been bullying Montenegro, issuing bulldozing ultimatums calling for the raising of the siege of Scutari and the withdrawal of its troops from Albanian territory. In deference to a suggestion from Russia, Montenegro allowed the non-combatants bottled up in the city of Scutari to withdraw, but it protested against the breach of neutrality which Austria's demand involved the withdrawal of the non-combatants from the besieged city increased enormously the food supplies at the disposal of the garrison and the ability to prolong the defense of the fortress possibly for weeks. Montenegro has declined, however, to raise the siege and Austria has not ventured to carry out the threat conveyed in its ultimatum, and the "concert of action" of the powers is without influence.

WOMEN ARE EXCLUDED

Among the possessions of disrupted Turkey in Europe there is none to which the Greeks have greater claim than the holy Mount of Athos, the most easterly promontory of the Balkan peninsula, the three simoniac-shaped peninsulas that extend into the Aegean Sea a few miles east of Saloniki. Among the inhabitants of the most sacred mount some 2000 in all, the greater part are Greeks, men who have withdrawn, most of them, voluntarily from life to take out a lonely existence among the rocky cliffs of the peninsula dividing the three branches of the Balkan division of heaven and earth.

Mount Athos, situated at the extreme southern point of the peninsula, bears its snow-capped summit 6500 feet above sea level. It looks for all the world like one of the pyramids of Egypt transplanted to a colder clime and its history is replete with as much mystery and charm. Stand on the plain of old Troy—today swallowed up in the name Anatolia—and you may see the hoary peak of Athos against the setting sun. Or climb to the heights of Olympus in old Thessaly, and there, among the once sacred graves which today are infested with bands of thieves who come to rob the graves of the dead, you may see the

to become Greek again. If Greek diplomacy can so turn the wheel of fortune or the many peculiarities of Mount Athos than the fact that women and even female animals are forever barred from setting foot upon it by a decree issued about the middle of the eleventh century. Lonely men live there, their miserable existence for miserable it must be where no woman has a part—and dying disappears. Young monks come from the outside world to take the places of those who in their own behalf are merely "transferred" out of the name of this, or that monk remains but a memory. Life there is the deathly stumble to old age and the grave. Never a day laugh and seldom a smile, so that the sun shines on the God-chosen spot in vain.

There are 20 monasteries on Mount Athos all belonging to the order of St. Basil and 12 affiliated monastic communities where live the lay brothers. Others of these religious folk occupy hermitages far distant from each other, their going and their coming guided by the ascetic principles of St. Athanasius. —New York Sun men are not progressing morally as rapidly as women may be true, but he should remember that it is a handicap race and they will be the abode of 400 men, are soon to be 500, and they will be 600 in 1910.

MISS STELLA FISKE HARrington was wedded to Joseph Hotchkiss Miller of Healdsburg at a pretty church ceremony Saturday evening in the Plymouth congregational church in Piedmont in the presence of about three hundred guests. Rev. Albert Palmer read the service, and the bride was given into the keeping of her husband by her father, C. K. Harman.
Mrs. Lester Ballinger, a bride of last year, who was Miss Katherine Shannon, was matron of honor at the wedding and Miss Pearl and Miss Ethel Leary were the bridesmaids. The groomsmen were Frederick Barnes and the ushers were Miller Hotchkiss and William Barnes.
The bride was beautifully gowned in white brocade satin, made with a long train, and the corsage draped with old Venetian lace which had been used to adorn the wedding dress of the bride's grandmother. Sprays of orange blossoms were arranged to hold the veil in Juliet cap effect, and the cloudy tulle veil fell in graceful folds to the end of the long train. The winsome bride carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Mrs. Ballinger wore her wedding gown of white satin and real lace and carried a shower bouquet of daffodils, jonquils and narcissus. The two bridesmaids wore gowned silks in pale lavender chiffon modestly draped over charmesse of the same shade, and carried shower bouquets of spring flowers.

The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception and wedding supper at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. S. S. Devlin, on Shattuck avenue, for about seventy-five of the relatives and close friends of the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will spend their honeymoon at Del Monte and will reside at Healdsburg, where Miller has built a home for his bride. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Miller of Seaside and is cashier of the First National Bank in Healdsburg. Mrs. Miller is a graduate of the University of California and was secretary of her class and treasurer of the Fraternity society. She also is a member of the Tamalpais chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

TO LEAVE FOR EAST.
Miss Selma Woodworth and her attractive daughter, Miss Dorothy Woodworth, will leave next Wednesday for the East, going directly to New York, where they will spend a month or so before starting on a tour of the Eastern states. Mrs.
Woodworth and her daughter will travel through the East for about eight months, stopping over at points of interest for long or short stays. Miss Woodworth will be the guest of honor at a tea to be given in her honor by her aunt, Mrs.
Emil Theodore Kruse, at her home in the North Berkeley. A large number of the younger set will be Mrs. Kruse's guests for that occasion. Miss Woodworth is a popular girl, who has taken an active part in the season's gaieties.

DINNER PARTY AND DANCE.
Miss Helen Mehrmann was the guest of honor at a dinner party and dance given by Miss Margaret and Miss Elaine Barnett Saturday evening at their home.
About a score of the younger folk enjoyed the pleasant occasion, which was in the nature of a farewell to the attractive guests who will leave for the European tour Wednesday. She will accompany her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell, and the party will stop in New York about a fortnight before leaving for Europe, where they will spend about six months. Miss Mehrmann will pursue her musical studies while abroad.
The gifted girl has been honored by a number of farewell affairs during the past few weeks.

WEDDED IN EAST.
In the bay cities have been recently the word of the marriage of Miss Ella Hall and Malcolm Cropper, which was solemnized Saturday, March 23, in the home of the couple's aunt, Mrs. C. J.
Hall, at their wedding trip, thereby, leaving the cyclone which devastated the city a few days later. Cropper is the son of Mrs. Laura Cropper of San Francisco, and his bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hall of Berkeley. She is an artist who has achieved enviable success as a young student. The bridegroom is a host of friends in the bay cities.
He was educated at the University of California, with the class of 1911 and was identified with the affairs of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity on the campus.
He is an electrical engineer and is associated with a New York company which has offices at Lincoln, Neb., where he and his bride will reside for the present.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS
MIRRORS OUT OF ELEVATORS 'TIS
TO MOURN

Women Blocked Traffic While Straightening on Their Hats.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Mother Eve has clashed with the gods of latter-day efficiency. The women who are being taken out of downtown office buildings elevators because they linger before them and block traffic. Having the ballet door to pass the slightest difference in the lure of their own fair semblance.

Of course, one has to keep things on straight, and how on earth could you manage a perfect part without a mirror? So there you are. The women role happily up and down the pilots ground their teeth, and hapless men—mere meek-climbed stairs. But the modern motels of business must be served, so out go the mirrors.

It all began with the elevator pilots. Rather than ungallantly telling the young women where they got off, they said, "They were compelled to allow congestion of the elevators, while the women made the most of the allurements of the full-length mirrors. In crowded buildings, the problem of handling the elevators became serious, and the pilots appealed to the building managers. The larger and hand-somer the mirrors the more difficult it became to get the women away from them. The only thing to do seemed to be to take out the mirrors.

$5000 Club Boycotted

BOSTON, March 31.—Unless the club of Wellesley College girls who are determined to marry no man of less than $5000 a year income disbands, the women of that fashionable institution will lose their coterie of Harvard admirers shortly.

The rather large group of Harvard men who have friends among the Wellesley girls contemplate the formation of an anti-Wellesley club that will have for its purpose the prevention of marriage with young women of the college.

The Harvard men think that the girls have un-American ideas and that they are selfish in banishing those who do not have $5000 a year positions. "They can keep their resolve to hold aloof from all but the $5000 or better men," chirped the Harvard chorus.

"While they are waiting for us to strike the $5000 jobs, we will be marrying somebody with more ideas on cooking than incomes."

Woman Under Knife

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—One of the most important of the operations performed at the Jefferson Hospital recently was the removal of a cancer from the breast of an 80-year-old woman, who remained conscious while the surgeons used their knives.

Owing to the age of the woman a local anesthetic was applied to the portion of the body upon which the operation was performed, the patient being fully cognizant of all that was going on while the surgeons were at work.

The operation was performed by Dr. J. Chalmers D. Costa, the local anesthetic being administered by Dr. Charles E. Armstrong, an authority on this method of anesthesia.

A similar method of procedure was followed in removing a bullet from the breast of a young man.

Skin Barometer of Health

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

THE skin represents the state of health of the body and is the best index that we have as to age. If the skin is white and smooth, and the circulation good it shows the blood still courses through the minute blood vessels that nourish the skin, for these are the first to wither as the body changes from growth and maturity to degeneration. In order to prevent this change the greatest care must be taken to keep the skin in its proper condition, which may be done by baths and massage. Baths may be for cleansing, tonic or for medicinal purposes. Cold baths are not cleansing. They are more in the nature of a tonic. Neither do they agree with every one. The test as to the benefit of a cold bath in individual cases is easily understood. If a "glow" immediately follows the drying of the skin, the bath is beneficial, but if this reaction is tardy or does not occur at all, and there is a blue tinge upon the surface of the body, such a bath is really injurious. Delicate people should beware of cold baths. They are only for the strong. Elderly persons should never bathe in water below 70 degrees. Where cleanliness is the main object, the water should be from 92 to 98 degrees; a tepid bath varies from 65 to 80 degrees and a cold bath is any temperature below 65 degrees.

Do not forget to own a bath thermometer, for this is a great convenience, and when you decide the kind of a bath that suits you use your thermometer daily. In choosing the temperature of your bath, take the bath that makes you feel the strongest and takes the least vitality from you. A daily bath is absolutely necessary for good health and particularly so for good-looking skin. Warm baths are of extreme antiquity. Among the aborigines of the various countries vapor baths were made by heating stones red hot, pouring water over them and sitting in the steam. The heat of the warm bath draws the blood to the skin from the deeper parts. For busy people, those engaged in business, teachers, physicians, stenographers—all those whose occupations involve a sedentary life—the bath at a temperature of 92 to 98 degrees is especially desirable.

The bath may last from fifteen to thirty minutes. After such a bath the greatest care should be taken to avoid a chill, for the blood vessels have temporarily lost their tone. Heat has the special effect of facilitating the bodily functions—that is, by disposing of the waste matter—and a warm bath will do more to refresh one who is fatigued than a longer time spent in sleep. Each must make her own selection. If one cannot stand a cold bath in the morning an excellent bath to take is a warm one, followed by a cold shower. In this way you have the cleansing as well as the stimulating effect. Remember, if the feet are kept in warm water and cold water sprayed over the body, there will not be the slightest chance of ill effect from the cold shower.

MRS. W. G.—When one considers the two causes of wrinkles and how easily they may be prevented one sometimes feels inclined to wonder why so many women allow themselves to become prematurely aged for want of a little attention to the complexion night and morning. The wrinkles and lines which mar the beauty of the average woman are often more the result of neglect than of years. Time was when a woman accepted wrinkles and gray hairs as they made their appearance, whether early or late in life, with as good a grace as she could command, neither trying to discover the cause nor secure a remedy, but, fortunately for society in general, those days are long dead and gone.

Today women realize that the aim of every woman, in whatever walk of life she may be, should be

SCHOOL AND PLAYGROUND

CANOE CLUB PLANS BIG ROWING REGATTA

With the opening of the spring boating season, the members of the Lakeside Canoe Club are planning a big regatta to be held in the near future on Lake Merritt. Canoe, rowing, sailing and motor races will be on the program, besides swimming events and tub races. The club numbers 25 members now and its first regatta about 115 water-craft, including four launches, four sailboats, several row-boats and many canoes. Yesterday the unusual sight of twenty-one canoes and boats strung out behind Jack Hunt's launch "The Arrow" attracted considerable attention from the large crowd of music lovers at Lakeside Park. The parade of boats executed several maneuvers and lasted for nearly two hours.

George Paul is president of the canoe club, which is located in a pretty bungalow on the lake directly opposite the concert amphitheater in Lakeside Park.

Beau and belles exchanged greetings at the dance given by the Calana Assembly last Saturday evening at the Calana, Elizabeth and Market streets, where the members of the organization acted upon the report of the receiving committee. The floor managers were Reuben Chase and John Talbot. Recently officers of the society were elected as follows: Orville Caldwell, president; Bert Blapham, vice-president; Frank Luttrell, secretary, and A. Giesler, treasurer.

FIRM PAYS EMPLOYEES BONUS TO TAKE BATHS

PHILADELPHIA, March 31.—Harris, Benoit & Co. of this city have offered to give every man in their employ 15 cents every time he takes a bath. Two-thirds of the 700 workers at the plant already have accepted the offer. The baths are limited to one a day for each employee, to be taken when going off duty at night. The firm furnishes nickel-plated tubs, towels, soap and showers. When the bath is over the employee gets a check from the attendant. At the end of the week he cashes them in at 15 cents each. The plan the total cost to the concern in bonuses will be more than $32,000 a year. It was suggested to the firm by Dr. E. D. Patterson, former chief police surgeon of Philadelphia, who has charge of the welfare department of the plant. "Cheap insurance against sickness" is what he calls the bath plan.

to look her best on every possible occasion and to ward off the marks of time as long as possible. What in past years would have been considered vanity is now regarded as common sense. Many women systematically starve their skins, using hard water and questionable soap, and then wonder why they so quickly lose the beauty of their complexions. The skin must be fed by the use of a good skin food every night.

If you care for it send me a stamped addressed envelope and I shall be happy to send you the formula for the skin food I have used for over twenty years, with directions for facial massage. This skin food is frequently used by the French and Russian women.

HARRIET—In order to keep blonde hair light it should be washed every two weeks. A tablespoonful of peroxide of hydrogen added to the last rinsing water will help keep the hair light. The juice of half a lemon is also good. When washing the hair be sure and get all of the soap out of it, for nothing will spoil the golden tint of blonde hair quicker than soap. I would not advise you to use a dry shampoo too often on your hair. In fact, it is not good to use it at all. The shampoo may make the hair light and fluffy for a time, but when used frequently it will clog the pores of the scalp and the result is dandruff. If you will send me a stamped addressed envelope I shall be glad to send you the formula for an excellent shampoo for blonde hair.

M. D. I have an excellent shampoo lotion for white hair which I will be pleased to send you if you will write me again asking for it, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MANY GRADUATE STUDENTS WILL ACT AS PATRONS

Many of the graduate students of the Oakland High School will be patrons at affairs to be given by the pupils this semester. Gretchen Vestal, who was a member of several student organizations last term, has maintained her interest in the various societies of the school.

There will be a number of joint meetings of the Senate and the Ecclesia debating society prior to the close of the year. The dance given by the clubs proved one of the most enjoyable events of the season. The officers of the Ecclesia during the latter half of 1912 were Cella Waterman, president; Florence Morrison, vice-president; Della Webb, secretary; Beatrice Mark, treasurer, and Zoe Hermis, students' council representative.

Boys of the Yellowstone Club of Oakland social settlement, Third and Linden streets, are planning to give an entertainment under the direction of William Wieland, a volunteer worker and a student in the University of California. It is expected that a large sum will be raised from the sale of tickets.

Director Wieland has been much encouraged by the splendid work of the boys in military drill, which has become a popular pastime for the youth. Aside from the athletic efforts which are under supervision, the boys have displayed an interest in dramatic performances. They have shown an appreciation for classical music. At the impromptu gatherings held in the clubrooms nightly, programs of operatic selections are sung. It is believed that there are a number of Carusos in the Settlement and with a slight training they would "make good" on the stage. Miss Minnie Smith, who is in charge of the Settlement work, declares that the boys are very talented along artistic lines and with cultivation they would become valuable assets to the musical world. Within the near future there will be a campaign for funds for the institution, which is in need of assistance. Many hiking trips have been planned by William Wieland for the boys, who enjoy outdoor exercises and climbing excursions.

RUNAWAY FREIGHT CAR INJURES SIX PEOPLE

PASSENGERS IN STREET CAR INJURED

Heavy Steel Gondola Crashes Into College Avenue Electric Line.

The Motorman May Die; Two Homes Demolished; Telephone Pole Razed.

A large steel work car of the Oakland and Antioch railway company broke away from the main section of its train last night, shortly after 8 o'clock and despite the frantic efforts of Conductor W. J. Davis to bring it to a halt took a course down grade, and after running over two miles, crashed into the front section of a street car on the College avenue line which was bound north at Shafter and College avenues. The collision tore away the front section of the light passenger car, throwing the dozen occupants to the ground and severely injuring several persons and causing injuries to motorman M. J. Hipsley which are expected to prove fatal. The big runaway car then continued on its way and demolished the real estate office of C. L. Gifford Company and crashed into the home of Dr. Newell Wilson at 5553 Shafter avenue 400 feet from the tracks. The total estimated damages to the structures will probably amount to over $5000.

MOTORMAN SEVERELY HURT. Hipsley is the only one of the persons figuring in last night's accident who is regarded as seriously injured. He is in the Providence Hospital suffering very much. Since the accident last night he has been in a semi-conscious state. His hip is badly fractured and he is badly cut about the head, face, arms and body from the flying glass. He is also believed to be suffering from internal injuries.

An operation will be conducted by Dr. G. Reine as soon as it is thought that the injured motorman can stand the strain. His recovery is doubtful.

The others injured last night are out of danger. Sylvester Merrill, 1428 Chestnut street, Alameda, who was at first believed to be suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries is but slightly hurt. He was knocked unconscious by the impact and removed to the Fabiola Hospital. He was later removed to his home in Alameda where an X-Ray examination by Dr. A. S. Lerkey this morning showed that injuries though painful are not fatal.

Mrs. L. M. Barrett of 3053 Hillegas avenue, Berkeley, who with her husband and son T. R. Barrett, were passengers on the street car was reported as being out of danger this morning. She is still in a nervous condition from the shock and has several minor cuts about the face caused by flying glass. Both husband and son, however, are uninjured.

OUT OF DANGER. The others injured were George Gunnison, 2228 Byron street, Berkeley, passenger, cut by flying glass; E. Yehimura, passenger, bruises and abrasions; John Samuels, conductor of the runaway car and several persons who refused to give their names. All were reported out of danger this morning.

The accident was caused by the failure of a coupling pin to catch. The car which broke from the rear of a work train at the Oakland and Antioch track excavation in North Oakland had gone over a course of two miles in a reckless unguided flight and had gained a momentum of probably 50 miles an hour when it smashed into the passenger car.

An attempt was made by conductor W. J. Davis to stop the runaway car's mad flight by the use of the brake. This refused to work, however, and Davis after riding a quarter of a mile, jumped.

It was hardly two minutes later when the heavy steel work car crashed into the lighter passenger carrier. The front section of the car was carried away by the impact and the dozen passengers and crew were thrown to the ground. The runaway car then continued on its way and crashed into the vacant real estate office of C. L. Gifford Company. It then wrecked and tore out the east side of Dr. Newell Wilson's home at 5553 Shafter avenue. The crash threw mirrors, dishes and other breakable paraphernalia in the interior of the house to the floor and also loosened much of the plastering.

ESCAPED WORSE FATE.

Had the runaway car struck the traction car head-on it is not unlikely that all of the passengers might have been killed. Fortunately, however, the runaway car struck it at a glancing blow, the runaway car taking a course toward the west, while the passenger car was going toward the north. Providence was also with the passengers, for had the big heavy steel Antioch freight car struck the lighter traction car, in the center it would have unquestionably resulted in several fatalities.

The runaway car was put back on the rails early this morning. It was necessary to raise the Gifford real estate office to do the job. The damage to property is estimated at over $5000, of which the real estate company and the home of Dr. Wilson are the principal losers.

PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO MRS. WILLIAM T. VEITCH

Funeral of Philanthropic Woman Is Attended by Many Friends

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. T. Veitch, wife of a contractor of this city, was held this afternoon from the family residence, 555 Walsworth avenue.

Relatives and friends assembled in the parlors, which were filled with wreaths and choice flowers, including huge stands of carnations, roses and lilies of the valley. The casket was surrounded by beautiful floral tokens, which represented tributes from her near and dear ones and numerous acquaintances by whom she was loved and esteemed.

To add to the impressiveness of the services, which were conducted by Rev. Albert W. Palmer, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, a quartet rendered sacred numbers.

The last rites took place at the home and at the crematory.

Many representatives of local social organizations attended the services. Legions of friends mourn the loss of Mrs. Veitch, who had made her home in this city for many years and had been prominent in social and philanthropic activities.

Five sons of Mrs. Veitch acted as pall bearers, together with Ralph Myers, a friend of the family. The deceased is survived by her husband, W. T. Veitch, and sons, David N. William and Samuel Knowles, Thomas W. and Lloyd Veitch.

LOVE SERMON BRIGHT WITH EPIGRAMS

"Kisses Won't Buy Corned Beef" and "Marital Indigestion" by Pastor.

Rev. Jump Discusses Delicate Subject in Vibrant Passages on Absorbing Subject.

"Butchers will usually not accept kisses in payment for corned beef. Emotions will not keep the furnace going, no matter how warm they may be. Hence there must be a careful consideration of the business side of love before a boy and girl ventures upon the sea of matrimony."

This is a part of the counsel that was given by Rev. Herbert A. Jump at the First Congregational church last evening in a sermon on "When Love Awakens." The matter of disposition and whether the two dispositions in the case fit each other is a second consideration to be reckoned with when love awakens. It is said with milk and lobster should not be taken into the system together or indigestion will follow. Whether or not this be so, there are souls who simply were not made to fit each other, and if they enter into any sort of intimate companionship there is likely to follow an instance of marital indigestion.

PERSONAL ATTRACTIVENESS.

"Love should look more deeply than the merely physical. Many a man has won a wife mainly on the fact of being six feet tall. There are women who found their lover because they had a bright complexion. Personal attractiveness should be sought and should be appreciated when it exists, but love has such alluring vision that it needs but little help from externals. The cynic may declare that marriages are not made in heaven, but in the shop of the matrimonial broker, and he may be partly correct. But real love judges by the innermost soul. It finds that handsomeness is as handsome does. It no more chooses a life-partner solely by looks than a man would choose the kind of excavator to dig foundations for his house solely by its looks as it was trundled along the street.

And after love's surrender there follows a period of reconstruction. Each life has to be made over in union with the other life. This often entails friction. But such friction of companionship is part of a soul's education. Out of it are born the beauty of mutual deference and the glory of self-sacrifice." Next Sunday evening Mr. Jump announced that he would preach on "The Subtle Riches of Home," the fourth sermon in the series to young people on the theme, "The Architecture of Success."

BURGLAR SHOTS OFFICER PISTOLS USED BY THUGS

EUGENE STACHLER, FORMER COUNCILMAN, WHO WAS WOUNDED LAST NIGHT IN A BATTLE WITH BURGLARS.

While reaching for his revolver to protect himself from two thugs who had broken into his home last night, Eugene Stachler, former City Councilman and now a deputy under Sheriff Frank Barnett, was shot through the right arm by one of the burglars. It was only the fact that Stachler had turned upon his side to get his revolver that saved his life.

The burglars engaged Stachler in a revolver duel as they ran from the house, and afterwards exchanged shots with Constable Cecil Hitchcock when he pursued them into a blind street at Layton street and Moss avenue. They escaped in the darkness, and although search was made by the police, no trace of the men was found. It is thought that one of them was wounded. Two suspects arrested last night by Patrolman Patrick O'Neill were released this morning by Captain of Inspectors Lou F. Agnew.

The burglary occurred shortly after 9 o'clock last night at the Stachler home at 1056 Grand avenue. Stachler and his wife had retired shortly after 8 o'clock and Mrs. Stachler was awakened about an hour later by somebody moving about in the house. She turned to awaken her husband, when an electric pocket torch was flashed in her face.

Stachler had heard his wife's voice as she cried out in fear. With a quick movement he turned to take his revolver from the table beside the bed. As he did so, a shot rang out, and a bullet passed through the fleshy part of his right arm. The revolver in the hand of the thug was held so close to his face and head that his face was powder white. Had Stachler not moved at the moment he did, the bullet would undoubtedly have passed through his head.

WIFE SHOWS BRAVERY.

Mrs. Stachler saw that her husband was wounded. As he leaned from the bed she followed him and interposed her body between him and the fleeing thugs. Stachler fired two shots after the men, reaching around his wife with his revolver in his left hand.

The men escaped through the rear of the house, dropping ten feet through the glass of a conservatory.

Constable Hitchcock heard the shots and hastened to the scene. Stachler told him the direction in which the men had fled. Hitchcock started in pursuit, while Stachler was taken to the Receiving Hospital to have his wound dressed.

Hitchcock overtook the fleeing men and called upon them to stop. They turned and fired upon him.

Hitchcock followed them into Layton street from Moss avenue.

The street is a blind one, ending in a high fence. Here Hitchcock brought the men to bay, and a revolver duel occurred in which a dozen shots were exchanged on both sides.

Under cover of the shooting the men ran into a yard and escaped. Captain J. F. Lynch hastened to the scene in the police auto and a round-up was made by the patrolmen. The thugs were not captured, however. Nothing was taken from the Stachler home.

GIVES VIVID ACCOUNT.

When interviewed at the county jail this morning, Deputy Sheriff Stachler gave a vivid account of the attempted robbery and murder.

"I had lost considerable sleep during the last few days and had retired earlier than usual. I was awakened by my wife who had been disturbed by the flashing of the burglar's electric lamp. I sat up in bed before I realized that the intruder was upon me. He told me to lie down and keep quiet, but I started to get out of bed to reach for my revolver which lay on a nearby table. In some manner I fell to the floor and as I did so I dropped the revolver in my left hand. At the same time the man fired

WILSON'S PAY DAY TO MARK PRECEDENT

Will Receive "Settlement Warrant" Instead of "Accountable Warrant."

Salary Account With Government Will be Balanced Monthly.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—Woodrow Wilson will receive his first pay check as President of the United States today when Secretary McAdoo will present him with a treasury warrant for $5625, representing his salary from March 4 to March 31. On pay day hereafter, however, the President will receive $6250, a full month's proportion of the $75,000 annual stipend.

The treasury department contemplates establishing a precedent in the method of paying President Wilson. Since the days of Washington the President of the United States has been paid by what is known as an "accountable warrant," which means money to be accounted for. A "settlement warrant," which closes an account, has been given the President only on his last pay day when his services were debited on the books against the credits made to him during his term of office. Mr. Wilson, however, probably will be given a "settlement warrant" each month, and his salary account with the government balanced monthly as his term transpires. No one today knows why the President always has been paid by an "accountable warrant," which is issued in other cases only in connection with advanced money.

The President is the only official whose salary is paid by the treasury department. Vice-President Marshall will receive from the secretary of the senate today the portion he has so far earned of his $12,000 annual compensation.

at close range. I know that the bullet had grazed my ear and as he fled I attempted to pursue him, but my wife had gotten up and was in the middle of the room between me and the burglar so I was unable to shoot without hitting her. My son and daughter were also about by that time, and I would not take a chance in hitting one of the family. The burglar jumped from the second-story window into the flames roof of the conservatory and made his exit by way of the door and over the back fence. I heard Officer Hitchcock exchange shots with the pair as they ran away."

Resides a nipped ear and powder marks upon his face, Stachler was not injured

Mrs. Burrell Stepped Back After Car Started, Witness Testifies.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Alma Elkington, 19-year-old daughter of Thomas H. Elkington, a prominent local automobile man, appeared in Police Judge Sullivan's court today to face a charge of manslaughter preferred for the accidental killing of Mrs. Elsie Burrell, wife of Ascher Burrell of 3024 Harper street, Berkeley, on March 16. Miss Elkington, who was completed prostrate following the tragedy, is much improved in health although she had never been the same since the unfortunate affair. This morning the evidence of two witnesses was taken in order that both might leave town. M. H. Lacy, of 1055-A Page street, testified that he was on the corner of Page and Scott street, where the accident occurred, and noticed Mrs. Burrell cross over. He said he thought the machine, with Miss Elkington at the wheel, was brought to a stop and that Mrs. Burrell was almost four feet clear of it when it was started again. The woman, he said, stepped back directly in the path of the car and was knocked down.

Another witness was Mr. Jacobus, a private detective, but he knew nothing of the affair until he heard Mrs. Burrell scream after she was knocked down.

Miss Elkington, who has been driving automobiles for two years, claims to be an expert at the wheel. Mrs. Burrell, with her babe in her arms, and her husband a few feet in front of her, was struck and almost instantly killed. It is claimed that the automobile was going very slowly at the time of the accident.

After the two witnesses had heard the case was put over until April 9.

ENGINEERS REPORT ON RICHMOND

Haviland & Tibbets Tell of the Big Waterfront Possibilities.

There are many reasons to believe that the future growth of the city indicated by theoretical considerations will be greatly exceeded. Most of the large cities in the country owe their rapid rate of growth chiefly to the development of the manufacturing industries. Richmond is one of the few cities which has been primarily developed as an industrial community. It has special advantages for such development, among which are excellent railroad service, deep water, a large level area well adapted for manufacturing or terminal properties, proximity to a large city which means a cheap and flexible labor market, and cheap fuel, which can be furnished by the pipe lines of the Standard and Associated Oil Companies, leading directly from the California oil fields. This is also a line of development which can profit most from the commercial stimulus following the completion of the Panama canal, and of the 1915 "World's Exposition." The promise of a large population for Richmond is also based upon the many advantages which it possesses in comparison with other cities contiguous to San Francisco. Already there have been sufficient industrial establishments to make it a place of particular importance among California cities. Its promise as a manufacturing center is early attested by the most successful and energetic men who have identified it widely, and promoted its growth by inviting manufacturing enterprises and by subdividing the surrounding large level land holdings into lots. Because of the particular adaptability for a manufacturing center, it follows that the completion of the proposed harbor improvements will be of more advantage to Richmond than to any other of the bay cities. It should insure a growth both in population and in wealth far in excess of the normal and conservative estimates indicated by the theoretical studies of appendix No. 1.

AUTO BURGLARS WERE FASTIDIOUS

Take $1500 in Clothes, But Select Only High Priced Goods.

Driving up with an auto to the rear of the tailor shop of George Kinley in the Key Route arcade, burglars broke into the shop last night, quickly loaded suits of clothes, overcoats and bolts of cloth into the machine and escaped. The police are making strenuous efforts to obtain descriptions of the automobile and the burglars. The loot taken was valued at $1500.

The burglars forced a side window of the tailor shop and stole fifty suits of clothes and overcoats and about forty yards of imported cloth.

Entrance was effected by forcing the window with a burglar's jimmy. It is thought that several men must have worked at the burglary, as it would have been impossible for one to have carried the plunder away without being observed. The police have information that an automobile was used.

The burglars were evidently professional, as the robbery was carefully planned and executed. The thieves gained access to the window through a back yard of an adjoining cottage, and only the best goods were taken.

W. J. Rodas, 502 Franklin street, reported that his police car was stolen and entered, during the night, and $5.40 taken.

G. I. Beckel, 519 Nineteenth street, reported to the police that his room-mate had been kidnapped and that he was a purse containing $75. The police are investigating.

Other thefts and burglaries reported were as follows:

Ralph Silvers, 1215 Sixty-second street, room entered and $45 in coin and pair of shoes stolen.

John Fiesores, 409 Eighth street, serge suit stolen from his room.

W. J. Rodas, 502 Franklin street, room entered and two suits stolen.

S. C. Borman, 640 Allen street, screen cut from window by burglars who were scared away.

W. P. Burrows, 612 Fifty-seventh street, place entered, but nothing taken.

CONVICT TELLS OF BURIED DYNAMITE

Can of Explosives Was Cached to be Used in Bread Riot, is Testimony.

SAN QUENTIN, March 31.—There is buried somewhere inside the prison walls at San Quentin a can of nitroglycerine which was to have been used in the "bread riot" of last June, but whose non-arrival at the time it was expected caused a frustration of the plan, according to a convict who testified yesterday before the assembly committee investigating conditions at the institution.

With the testimony of this convict, whose identity is being kept a secret by the committee, an entirely new light was thrown upon the attempted wholesale prison delivery. It was the first time since the investigation began that such intimate details of the planning and carrying out of the riot have been given, and the information was received with no little astonishment.

Nineteen convicts testified yesterday before the special committee of five of both houses of the legislature which is investigating charges of cruelty, neglect and inhuman treatment made against the prison officials by former convicts.

Most of the prisoners were men of education, some of them physicians, lawyers and bankers, and in the main their stories contained praise for the officials of the prison. All expressed resentment against the injustice of the law and the system of retaliation between the police, the judges of the criminal courts and the prison officials.

The consensus of opinion of the convicts as gleaned from their testimony indicated that they believed prison conditions to be growing better, punishment being made less severe for infractions of petty rules, food of better quality being served and more scientific care for the sick in the hospital. All of the witnesses yesterday declared they believed Captain Randolph of the guards to be "square."

The production reflected credit upon every department that was called upon for its contribution to the making up of the Columbia show. The carpenter and his crew have surrounded the players this week with an appropriate and beautiful garden setting, while the electrician has furnished a dazzling display of lighting effects. PASTOR PREACHES ON TRUTH WITHIN DOGMA

The first of a series of Sunday evening sermons on the general topic, "The Truth Within the Dogma," was preached last night at the Plymouth Congregational church by Rev. Albert W. Palmer, the pastor. The theme was "The New and Better Bible." This series is based on a conviction that every ancient doctrine grew up in response to some spiritual reality, and that the modern world is in the task of interpreting this inner soul of truth in terms of its own life and experience. No dogma is to be called childish or grotesque till we have found the truth in its external formula to the inner truth.

Other topics in the series are: "The Miraculous Element in Life," "The Christ of Today," "The Deeper and Larger Salvation," and "The Judgment, Heaven and Hell Within." During the evening services an augmented choir rendered seven compositions of Cesar Franck (1822-1890), Camille Saint-Saens and Ch. Marie Widor.

Handbag for Man is New Fad; Oh, Isn't it Lovely!

CHICAGO, March 31.—Handbags for men is the latest conceit of Chicago boulevardiers and the new fad is said to be about to displace the wrist watch, which found favor here. The innovation has its rise in the new close fitting models of men's attire, which allows no room for unsightly bulges of pocketbook, handkerchief or coin purses.

The bags contain the handkerchief, cigarette case, cards, a small mirror and money if any. A number of them have made their appearance at the Lake Shore boulevard. Some have become so light that the handkerchief was banished from them long since and light trousers presented the same obstacle to carrying anything in the pockets.

Following the automobile trip the visitors were brought to the Hotel Oakland where a light luncheon was served. "Today's outing," said one of the visitors, "was a revelation to me. I never was so surprised in the wonderful growth of a city in such a short time. And Berkeley and Alameda cannot be excelled."

WHITE OAKS TO GIVE MILITARY
BALL TOMORROW

A black and white portrait of a man in a military uniform, wearing a peaked cap and a high-collared jacket. The portrait is framed by a decorative border.

H. EXPRESS

The annual ball of the "White Oaks," the military drill team of the local branch of the Elks' lodge, will be given tomorrow evening in the Hotel Oakland. Indications point to the affair being a big success. Tomorrow evening's event will be in the form of a military ball, and in addition to the members of the Elks who will be out in military uniform, there will also be a formidable representation of Ashmun Temple Patrol present. A committee on arrangements is handling the details of the affair. H. Endress and a number of other prominent White Oaks are among those assisting in making tomorrow night's affair a success.

THE FEDERAL SPY AT THE OAKLAND

Remarkable Film Play Produced, Show War Time Scenes.

A new, special two-ree wartime play entitled "Pauline Cushman, the Federal Spy," shown for the first time at the Oakland Photo Theater yesterday, the first day of its three-day run, is a worthy feature that will doubtless prove to be one of the most meritorious productions of the season. Historic events are covered with unusual care for exactitude in detail and woven in with a big romance that never allows interest to flag for a moment. It was a happy discovery to find a heroine so dashing and so distinctive as this modern Valkyrie, who deserted the feverish sentimentality of the theater footlights to take on the dangerous duties of a spy between the lines." As an actual fact, this intrepid young heroine was twice sentenced to death by Confederate officers—and many times made wonderful escapes. There is no sign of the "hip" soldier here. The men are crack companies from the Civil War, and the uniforms and armaments of the troopers from the same source. Batteries are composed of ten pieces of artillery and are handled in this production with the skill and dash of veteran service. Indeed, the evolutions of the men and the firm soldierly bearing of the officers throughout, impress us with all the realism of

THE HUMAN COCKTAIL.

"The Inimitable Lotta," in her day, was reckoned the greatest character squibette of the time on the American stage. In view of Lotta's life, her varied and strong emotions, her quality art commanded the late John Broughman to dub her "the human cocktail." This was not a particularly polite way to describe one of the most modest and abstemious lights of the stage, who has retired to greater wealth of her own earning, than any other actress of our time. It seemed, if the inimitable swayed in her peculiar, but not in her temperament. When Oscar Eagle, the producer of Selig's "Pauline Cushman," studied the protean acting demands of the heroine part, he observed, the trinity of calls for comedy, tragedy and sentimental moods, and he immediately selected Whitford Greenwood as an actress of the desired versatility. The judgment of the producer was perceptibly sound in his choice, for she entered into "the mood, the emotional atmosphere, the mad-cap soufrette, a patriot, patient and intrepid heroine, a woman singularly alert, to meet and outwit the craftiest of men, arguing her way from beneath the shadow of the scaffold with lucidity, daring, and cleverness, that was as disarming as it was

In the Selig Company's production, no expense has been spared to make the portrait complete. Accuracy in military details, the impressive atmosphere of war and realistic battle scenes, are all woven into a story entirely founded upon the thrilling adventures of Pauline Cushman. The Biograph offering entitled "The Adventures of Bobbie" crosses the line of the "bad men," is one of the best western dramas ever seen in this city. Ruth Roland the Kalem girl was featured in a screamingly funny comedy "Till Fired Cook" and a beautifully colored Pathe play was shown entitled "Eabes in

WILSON'S PLAN WORRIES LEADERS

Democrats Do Not Relish Idea That President and Cabinet Will Shape Tariff Law.

WASHINGTON, March 31.—With the Wilson administration not yet two months old, mutterings of discontent are being heard among the Democratic leaders, particularly in the Senate.

Word has been passed around to the Democratic Senators that President Wilson and the Cabinet propose to shape the tariff bill as it shall finally prevail in Congress, also that the Administration will withhold a great number of appointments until the tariff is settled, thus holding a club over any of the recalcitrants among the Democratic lawmakers.

This trend of the Administration mind, with the fact that the President is exerting efforts to have Democratic Senators stand for rules which would deprive the members of committees of power, and the fact that the President intends to pay frequent visits to the Capitol in order to advise faithful Senators and members of the House, are causing legislation, is causing a lot of rumbling under the surface in senatorial circles.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 31.—Mayor Rolph tonight will announce the name of the man he has selected to take the place of James Woods, resigned, on the police commission. Jones.

Mayor Rolph admitted last evening that he would make the long expected appointment tonight, but he said that he would not give any inkling as to who the man would be.

Reason for withholding the name until the regular meeting of the police commission are tonight.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Union of a railroad employees in one strong organization was predicted last night by W. F. Carter, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, in a speech to railroad men brought here for the hearings in the firemen's wage arbitration.

"I predict that we shall soon see the day when all railroad employees, shapers, machinists, and all other employees," President Carter said, "will be organized under one banner and the organization would unite today if they were permitted to do so by certain of their leaders, and these leaders prevent the union movement."
